From the AuthorEach of us will experience a setback in our lives. 20% of the setback is the actual obstacle. While 80% of the setback is how we react and overcome the obstacle. Instead of letting your setbacks become a stumbling block make them a stepping stone. You want to be perceived as better person not a bitter person. Do not be confused with failure as something negative that happens to you when you fall down. Failure is when you lose your confidence and composure to get up again. Winston Churchill once said "Never, Never, Never, give up! If you are going through hell keep going." Make the choice to stay the course. We will all be faced with battles in our lives and when the dust settles the critics will begin. But never give up!
